FYPH 102B. First-Year Seminar: Leadership and Self Discovery (3).

General education social and behavioral sciences course. Explores leadership through self-discovery, using Gallup's CliftonStrengths Inventory and the perspective from Astin and Astin (2000) that... "an important leadership development challenge for higher education is to empower students, by helping them develop those special talents and attitudes that will enable them to become effective social change agents." As students prepare their college journey, and ultimately the working world, this course helps them identify and embrace their leadership potential. First-Year Seminars do not meet a divisional requirement in the pre-Fall 2024 WSU General Education program, and can only be used in Bucket 7 for General Education starting Fall 2024.

FYPH 102G. First-Year Seminar: Connecting Generations: Sharing Life Stories with Shockers (3).

General education social and behavioral sciences course. A first year seminar designed to introduce basic knowledge and concepts of aging through engaging activities with peers designed with older adults in mind. Students gain new insight on the importance of connecting with each other and the older population through interactive activity both in the classroom and beyond. Students can expect minimal lecture, with a greater focus on group discussion and opportunities to interact with peers, as well as older adults across the community. Special consideration is given to how connecting across generations improves knowledge, attitudes and quality of life. Beyond the classroom opportunities to engage with older adults on site (within Wichita) are required. Students are responsible for arranging their own transportation. First-Year Seminars do not meet a divisional requirement in the pre-Fall 2024 WSU General Education program, and can only be used in Bucket 7 for General Education starting Fall 2024.
